

Reinforcement and membrane Accumulator

It is used to create an accumulation for the continuous production without having to stop working during the exchange of the reinforcement. The machinery provides an accumulation of about 300m of reinforcement or 100m of membrane, in a limited space

Main features:

- High density capacity
- Tension control system
- Design adjustable with client needed

